"Being a pilot is all worth it, including the last crash."

- RAF slogan -

For those of you who think there are no heroes anymore, look around you. They are found in many jobs we take for granted, like firefighters and policemen, motormen and mailmen and mechanics. And pilots.

My father started his flying career in the Navy where he flew a P2V Neptune in VP10, stationed in Argentia, Newfoundland. After that, he flew for Northwest Airlines for 34 years, from 1958 until 1992. During this time, he took off and landed over 14,000 times safely. He had several engine fires and countless engine stalls. He was hijacked once. In addition, he was required to take a rigorous check ride every six months for his entire career, almost 70 of them. And during all of this, he transported over two million passengers from one place to another, without a single incident.

Below is a four minute thirty second 320 x 240 .wmv file of his last landing for NWA on June 19, 1992, flight 326 Heavy (DC-10), runway 29L, at Minneapolis/St. Paul International Airport.

Bridge Boy Music testimonials...

- THIS JUST IN...Bridge Boy Music overtakes coffee as the nation's #1 stimulant!
- Bridge Boy Music is now the official music of U.N. secretary Kofi Annan's secretary's limosine driver's cousin!
- "Let me bluntify...I hate Carrothers' music." - President G. W. Bush
- "Bridge Boy Music jazz CDs have 1/3 less notes than the regular jazz CDs and yet they still sound great." - August Busch III
- "I carried a BBM CD around for over a year and it still smelled the same as it did the day I bought it." - J.B. Grenouille
- "I used a BBM CD to shore up a short leg on my kitchen table. Now it's rock solid." - Bruce Lundvall, Blue Note Records
- "I don't understand this f*&$ing kind of music at all! I don't understand what anybody is going up there. You got a long f*&$in' way to go. What the f$%# you're doin' up there doesn't deserve to be called a 'name' band." - Buddy Rich

Bill Carrothers

Trio

Artists' Quarter

While we don't know if Bill Carrothers will be humming "I'll Be Home for Christmas," he might as well join the lusty chorus of local expats in town for the holidays when he shows up at the AQ for his annual Yuletide appearance. A current resident of Michigan's Upper Peninsula, Carrothers is a prolific, phenomenally inventive jazz pianist known more in Europe than the U.S. despite having worked with the likes of Dewey Redman, Joe Beck, Lee Konitz, and Charlie Rouse. His interest in history-jazz and other—often informs his playing and projects, as does his whimsical sense of humor, which lately has yielded striking, serious jazz versions of "Old MacDonald Had a Farm" and "Itsy Bitsy Spider." As usual, Carrothers has numerous things brewing. Two recordings should be out soon on the German Pirouet label: Live at the Village Vanguard, recorded last summer with drummer Dre Pallemmaerts and bassist Nic Thys, and Joy Spring, which focuses on Clifford Brown's music with drummer Bill Stewart and bassist Drew Gress. Also in the works is a solo piano album of original music, a Mingus project, and a large-ensemble tribute to the music of the 1920s flapper era. At the AQ, his trio will include local stalwarts Kenny Horst on drums and Billy Peterson on bass. 18+. $10. 9 p.m. 408 St. Peter St., St. Paul; 651.292.1359.
